

HOOVER TO DELIVER HIS MAJOR SPEECH TONIGHT

METHODISTS IN DENIAL OF ANY SWING TO LEFT

Conference Makes An Emphatic Denial Of Radicalism

Unqualified denial that the Rock River Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church has endorsed the Socialist party or that it has embarked upon any program of radicalism was voted by the ministers of the conference almost unanimously after brief debate late this morning.

The Rev. Almer E. Pennwell of Ravenswood presented a report prepared, at the request of the conference, by himself the Rev. J. Hastie Odgers and the Rev. F. W. Spencer. The report said: "We declare unequivocally that such judgments do not express the truth or indicate the true intention of this conference. The public policy report does not endorse nor imply an endorsement of the Socialist party or of the economic and political program proposed by the advocates of socialism."

Rev. Self Objects

During debate the Rev. Joseph Self of Chicago said that he thought there was a considerable trend toward socialism in the public policy report in question and that he did not see why the conference should be ashamed of it. He said that in past years conference has not hesitated to allow itself to be represented as aligned with the major parties.

The protest was adopted with two votes against it.

The committee pointed out that the public policy report does "condemn the method of revolutionary violence as advocated by some of the Communist groups" and that it further says "it is not our task to set forth economic programs but to set forth those principles of justice which we hold to be the will of God."

To Joliet in 1933

Ottawa street church, Joliet, will entertain the 1933 session of the conference.

The report of W. C. Godden of St. Stephens church, Chicago, statistician, showed a slight increase in membership of the Methodist churches in the conference to a total of 98,436. Total ministerial salaries paid during the year were $686,931, a decrease of $111,902, or 14 per cent. Total paid for ministerial support including superintendents, bishops and pensions was $771,607. Total value of all church properties is $25,975,209.

Twenty miles from the spot where August 26, 1840 in Mt. Morris, the Rock River Conference was organized, its members held a brief historical observance Friday.

Guests of Walgreens

The ministers were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walgreen at their country estate, Hazelwood.

At an out-of-doors business session they heard an address by Dr. John R. Edwards of New York, corresponding Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions.

Challenges Bible Fenders

Dr. Merton R. Fisher, Detroit pastor, who has twice declined election as a bishop, addressed the conference on "Evangelism" Friday evening. "If you're afraid to tell the truth about the gospel to your congregations, get out of the pulpit," he challenged the ministers who made up large part of the audience that packed the auditorium.

"Quit defending the Bible," Dr. Fisher exhorted. "Preach the Word, don't defend it. You've worn out the Bible defending it and it does not need defending. A great life insurance company has said that ministers are their best risks. I consider that the worst compliment that the ministry could get. 'What I want to know is how ministers manage to live and keep as fat as you do while fighting the great battle of Christianity. The world needs the church. The church is the institution upon which the broken and depressed and broken-hearted world should depend for the solution of its problems.'"

Dr. Fisher bitterly condemned ministers who preach "smooth" sermons.

"Get down with the poor, sit down with the needs of the world," he told the assembled pastors. "Here we are standing in the midst of a needy world with equipment to help change things, and what have you done? You have sat down in the midst of it all and talked, and talked some more, and then talked again. You don't do anything."

The musical program was furnished by the eighty singers of the combined choirs of Court Street M. E. church, Rockford, with the Rev. LeRoy E. Wright at the organ. J. R. Jackson, Freeport layman presided.

Wives of the preachers at their annual luncheon Friday noon chose Mrs. Horace G. Smith, Evanston, head of their organization for the coming year. Mrs. Quiner R. Wright, wife of the Rev. Q. R. Wright, Centennial church, Rockford, was named vice president; Mrs. C. J. Hewitt, Evanston, treasurer; and Mrs. W. W. Liston, Chicago, recording secretary.

Mrs. W. J. Bagge, DeKalb, president of the conference Woman's Association, presided at the annual dinner of the group which celebrated the fact that the General conference in session last May recognized the organization. It comprises a federation of Ladies Aid societies throughout the conference.

Terse Items Of News Gathered In Dixon During Day

CHARGES DISMISSED

Charges of assault and battery preferred against John St. Clair by his brother-in-law Jake Madison Monday, were dismissed when the case came to trial before Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson yesterday.

REPORTS CAR STOLEN

Bert Flick of Grand Detour reported to the local police early last evening of the theft of his modern Ford sedan from near his home last yesterday. The theft was also reported to Sheriff Frank Murray at Oregon.

BOYS PREMATURE

Reports of the premature celebration of Halloween and damage to property are being received at police headquarters. Soaping of cars and throwing of tomatoes and other malicious acts have been complained of by citizens.

HEADS TOASTMASTERS

Prof. E. J. Frazier, principal of the Dixon high school, has been elected president of the Dixon Toastmaster's club for the ensuing year. The board of directors have been selected as follows: Percy Busby, Kenneth Ruby, Howard Byers and Dr. George McGraham. The other officers of the organization will be selected from the directorate and named at the next regular meeting of the club next Thursday evening.

STRONG FOR HOOVER

At yesterday afternoon's sessions of the Rock River Methodist conference, 100 secret ballots were passed out to the visiting delegates for the purpose of securing an indication of the feeling toward the presidential candidate. While the number of ballots represented only about one-third of the pastors and laymen present, the final result was as follows: Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate, 86; Norman Thomas, Socialist, 14. No ballots were cast for Democratic candidate.

AT B. & L. MEETING

Frank B. Stephan, Amos Bosworth and Edward Newman of the Dixon Loan & Building Association have returned from Quincy, where they attended a state meeting of Illinois building and loan associations. About 500 secretaries and officials of building and loan associations were in attendance at the sessions Wednesday and Thursday, and a very optimistic outlook prevailed, with encouraging reports from every section of the state, the northwest section leading all others.

HAVE FINE FISHING

Donald Grover is not a believer in long trips to northern lakes in search of pike fishing. Last evening he took four fine specimens from Rock River. The biggest walleye on his string balanced the scales at exactly seven pounds and the four pike together weighed 15 pounds. Albert Hauser, Jr., was another local fisherman who fared well with the rod and reel and bagged four nice walleyed pike last evening, his catch totaling about 12 pounds. Some very fine specimens of pike have been taken from the waters of Rock river this fall.

Senator Lewis To Speak In Freeport

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 15—(AP)—U. S. Senator James Hamilton Lewis will tour the state in support of Judge Henry Horner and the Democratic ticket, beginning at Freeport 8 P. M. Monday, October 17, it was today announced by the Democratic state committee. Lewis will also speak in Missouri and Indiana in behalf of Roosevelt.

OUTLOOK FOR WEEK

Chicago, Oct. 15—(AP)—Weather outlook for the period of Oct. 17 to Oct. 22.

For the Region of the Great Lakes—Cloudy and rather cold the beginning of week; some rain with rising temperature middle; probably fair and colder at end.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valleys and Northern and Central Great Plains—Mostly fair south; occasional light rains or snows north portions; temperatures mostly normal over south, frequent changes over north portions.

REPUBLICANS IN GREAT RALLY AT STERLING PARK

Estimate 30,000 In Attendance There Last Evening

A crowd, estimated at at least 30,000 attended the old-fashioned Republican rally in Sterling last evening following a barbecue and afternoon of speaking and entertaining in the afternoon. The evening address by James R. Garfield of Ohio, son of the martyred President, was listened to most attentively by the huge audience, everyone of whom could hear through the public address system which had been installed.

A torchlight parade, an ox barbecue and a band contest added atmosphere to the huge Republican rally. In the afternoon, Len Small, Republican nominee for governor, Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, Leo Allen, Galena, nominee for congressman from the Thirteenth district, and candidates for Whiteside county offices delivered addresses before more than 15,000 persons.

Mention of the 1896 campaigns of William McKinley and William Jennings Bryan was made by both Mr. Garfield and Attorney General Carlstrom. "Free Silver" and "free trade" was attacked in speeches as heady as they were thirty-six years ago.

Attacks Democrats

Greeting his enthusiastic audience with a smile, Mr. Garfield launched an attack on the Democratic party and candidates. "Within the next three weeks, voters must decide upon the important issues of this campaign," he said. "One big issue is sound money. A dollar should be as good in one part of the country as another so that those who have good credit may be trusted with loans. Honesty and justice are the best policies ever during hard times."

"After the Civil War, our credit was impaired. The Republican party proposed to pay all debts with sound gold dollars, to build up industry, and to establish a protective tariff. We began to rebuild prosperity, but we worked too fast, and in 1870, we had a panic with many unemployed and the farmers depressed. The Democratic party came forward with the issue of no tariff. The Democrats wanted to inflate the currency by printing greenbacks. They wanted to buy wool and wheat from other countries where it could be grown cheaply."

1890 Crisis

"People turned their backs on the Democratic suggestions in 1876, and under a Republican regime, we again began to see prosperity. We went forward with leaps and bounds. In the 1890's came another crisis. Again the Democrats stepped forward with William Jennings Bryan and his cries of free silver and free trade. At the election of 1896, however, the people turned down his ideas, and elected William McKinley. We returned to prosperity."

"Then came the world war. We loaned money to most of the world and went money mad. Prices on farm and city property rose. The high prices were not the fault of Republican administrations, but were a result of our own selfish desire to get rich quickly. Now the Democrats are coming forward with the same ideas they used during the campaign of 1896."

"Gov. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee for President says his party will change the financial condition of the country. He tried to deceive the farmers of the west, but found he could not. The people do not want free tariff, Roosevelt was informed."

Saved By Veto

"The Democrats tried to abolish the tariff commission, but President Hoover's veto saved it. A protective tariff, not necessarily a high tariff, is a good thing, and if Hoover had not had the courage to veto Democratic tariff measures, we would have had more bank failures, more factories closed, and more railroads bankrupt."

"The Reconstruction Finance corporation, which was established by President Hoover, saved this country from distress and failure. Individuals, bank depositors, holders of insurance policies, and railroad companies received the benefits of the President's plan."

"The Republican platform is a wise solution to the liquor question. For years, many systems were tried in various states, and finally national prohibition was adopted. 'Many states and individuals have made complete enforcement of the prohibition law impossible. The Democratic and Republican parties differ on the liquor question as widely as day and night.'

Liquor Question

"The Democrats are for repeal, and the older voters know what it means to legalize the liquor traffic. The Republicans are not willing to do this. We want the states to have the power to govern the sale and distribution of liquor. Propriety must and shall control liquor; liquor must not control propriety."

"Sounding a note of warning, Mr. Garfield said prosperity will turn, and urged his listeners not to 'speculate riotously when good over a nation-wide bookup.'

WHAT TO DO IN A STORM

OMINOUS CALM PREVAILS TODAY IN TAYLORVILLE

To Bury Miner, Shot By Guardsman, In Nearby County

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 15—(AP)—Mrs. Andrew Gyenes today directed that her husband, who was shot to death by a National Guardsman, be buried in the United Mine Workers cemetery at Mt. Olive, where Mother Jones and three victims of the "Virgin Massacre" are buried.

"I won't have him buried in Christian county," she said.

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 15—(AP)—Ominous calm hung heavily over the safe town Christian county coal field today following a few minor skirmishes between Guardsmen and striking miners last night at Kincaid and Langleville.

No pickets appeared this morning at either Peabody mine 58 or number 9, where approximately fifty miners have been injured in recent disorders.

Two hundred Guardsmen appeared at the mines shortly before daylight. The majority left later in the morning after the miners employed at the collieries had started to work. Between fifty and sixty striking miners were routed at Kincaid last night, but not until a number of patrol cars on duty in that area were temporarily put out of commission with flat tires, when the pickets scattered last over the roads in the town.

No Injuries Reported

It was reported that six or more shots were fired at Langleville during the night, but officers were unable to say who did the shooting.

No injuries were reported. Rumors that one thousand additional strikers were enroute here by automobile here last night failed to materialize. State highway patrolmen stationed on all routes leading into town reported no signs of the expected caravan.

A legal development, which was believed to have been averted last night when the Guardsmen released all but a few of the forty military prisoners, held in the county jail, broke out anew today when counsel for the Progressive Miners filed another blanket writ of habeas corpus for the release of the remaining prisoners.

Ford Will Urge Hoover's Election

New York, Oct. 15—(AP)—Republican campaign headquarters here announced that Henry Ford will make his first political speech Wednesday night, urging re-election of President Hoover. He will speak from Dearborn, Mich., at 8:30 P. M. Eastern standard time, over a nation-wide bookup.

Registration

Registration days in Lee county, at which all voters must see that they are registered in order to vote at the general election Nov. 8, will be Tuesday, Oct. 18 and Tuesday, Nov. 1. All voters who have moved into their precinct since the last election and all new voters—those who have reached the age of 21 since the last election—must be registered at the proper polling place.

No hours for registration are designed for next Tuesday, on which day the election officials will meet at the various polling places, check the poll books and post a complete poll list for inspection until Nov. 1, on which day they will be at the respective polling places from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. to register any voters whose names have been overlooked. On the latter day voters who have not been registered must call at the polling place and do so.

Three Jobs Let In Ogle, Winnebago

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 15—(AP)—Three highway construction projects in Ogle and Winnebago counties, totaling more than $13,000, were approved today by the Department of Public Works and Buildings.

The work in Ogle county consists of 0.88 miles near Oregon, awarded to Ashfield Brothers of Byron, $5,665.19, and 1.20 miles near Stratford, awarded to E. F. Gallagher of Oregon, $5,320.49.

The Winnebago job calls for six reinforced concrete culverts in the vicinity of Cherry Valley. The work was let to the Rockford Concrete Construction Company of Rockford for $2,288.54.

Two Ex-Officials Sent To State Pen

Macomb, Ill., Oct. 15—(AP)—Two former McDonough county officials were in the state penitentiary at Joliet today serving prison terms of from one to fifteen years after pleading guilty to embezzlement of county funds.

Former Circuit Clerk Ralph D. Wilson was taken to the state prison late yesterday after pleading guilty before Circuit Judge George Hillyer, in whose court he had served for several years, immediately after a special grand jury indicted him.

Ten days ago, William A. Boote, former Treasurer, entered a plea of guilty to a similar indictment and was sentenced to prison.

A deposit of salt in Wieliczka in Poland is said to be the largest in the world. The bed of salt rock is 500 miles long, 20 miles wide and 1200 feet thick.

London's gas supply is piped in more than 6400 miles of mains, and is made by carbonizing 4,067,600 tons of coal annually.

SAMUEL INSULL HOPES AFFAIRS WILL BE FIXED

Reports Of a Second Request To Greek Gov't. Denied

Athens, Oct. 15—(AP)—Samuel Insull, under indictment in Chicago following the collapse of his utilities holding company interests, said today that he would be glad to see any legal emissaries who may come here from the United States.

He said also that he hoped his affairs would be settled quickly in the United States and that the American authorities would acknowledge his passport rights so that he might be able to leave Greece freely.

Officials at the American legation said today they had made no representations to the Greek government in connection with the extradition of Insull since the latter several days ago confirming a verbal request for his arrest.

This statement followed reports that a new request had been made that Insull be detained pending extradition proceedings to take him back to Chicago.

The only reply the legation has had from the Greek Foreign Minister, it was said, was a verbal acknowledgment of the original request for Insull's detention. At that time, it was understood, the foreign ministry said it did not consider any further answer would be necessary.

Sentiments Of Old Guard Vary

Stillwater, Minn., Oct. 15—(AP)—The "old guard" of the state prison—ten inmates who have served 25 years or more—looked through cell bars with eyes a bit brighter today.

They were told, these oldest inmates of the institution, that the state parole board would have a special meeting next month to give them their first opportunity for freedom.

But, prison officials said, parole would carry no joy for several. They have no desire to leave familiar surroundings or as old men, to re-enter a world changed greatly since they left it long ago. Others are eager to go.

Polo Civil War Veteran Called

(Telegraph Special Service) . . . Polo, Oct. 15—David Stevens, aged 87, Civil War veteran, passed away this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Adella Shope, here. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Christian church, Rev. C. W. Marlowe officiating.

Home Made Lion Hunt Transferred To An Island Today

St. Louis, Oct. 15—(AP)—The "home made lion hunt started last night by Denver M. Wright, St. Louis, sportsman, was almost abandoned early today when Wright was nearly persuaded by a companion to give the pair of lions they were carrying with them in a truck to a Springfield, Mo., zoo.

After driving all night the lion party found themselves near Springfield, and then Wright decided again to go forward with his original plans to loose the lions in southeast Missouri and hunt them with rifles.

Wright changed his original plans to stage a hunt in a thicket in Mississippi county because of opposition of residents, and made new arrangements to shoot the lions on an island in the Mississippi river, where there would be less change for the animals to escape the hunters' guns.

COUNTERFEITERS NABBED ON EVE OF CLEANING UP

Police Seeking "Insider" And Expert Engraver

Chicago, Oct. 15—(AP)—An expert engraver and an "insider" in a bond house were sought by police today as they attempted to round up a gang accused of plotting to dispose of more than $10,000,000 in bogus securities.

Four men were held, three of them charged with conspiracy and possession of counterfeit bonds. In the roundup of the suspects, police also arrested Mike Di Laurentis, identified by a Michigan deputy as one of the participants in a $70,000 bank robbery in that state on Sept. 19. He was held pending extradition proceedings.

Morris Hill, a lawyer; Jacob Keno, former office manager of a perfume company; and Leo Goodman, were booked on the charges of conspiracy and possession of counterfeit bonds.

Lieutenant Frank Johnson said they were arrested yesterday shortly after they left $10,000 in forged gold notes of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York in a safety deposit vault. Charles Fried also was held. Four others were arrested for questioning but later released.

Johnson, who spent months in the investigation, said success of the alleged plot depended upon connivance of an expert engraver and an "insider man," he said the "insider man"—likely an employee of a bond or insurance house—would be depended upon to put the bogus securities in safety boxes or vaults to replace genuine securities. Johnson said he believed none of the spurious bonds had been passed but said that conversations he heard during his investigation indicated the men planned to dispose of at least $10,000,000 worth of the counterfeit paper.

Death Came To Dixon Man Today

Johnathon Myers Glessner, a resident of Dixon and vicinity for more than three score years, passed away at the Dixon state hospital this morning at 4 o'clock. He was committed to the institution from the county court last Tuesday, being in ill health at the time. His condition grew worse each day and death relieved his suffering at an early hour this morning. An autopsy was performed by the institution physicians this morning and Coroner Frank M. Banker conducted an inquest at 11:30. The jury returned a verdict finding that death was due to chronic nephritis and other complications.

The deceased, who for many years was a familiar figure on the streets of Dixon, was born in Somerset, Pa., September 20, 1856. He came west with his family at an early age and for several years engaged in farming in South Dixon township. He was a member of a family of 14 children and is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mabel Strome, whose present residence is unknown. Funeral services will be conducted from the Preston chapel Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Gilbert Stansell, pastor of the Methodist church officiating, and with interment in the Burket cemetery east of the city.

Roosevelt Plans For Coming Trip

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 15—(AP)—In the quiet surroundings of his country estate, Governor Roosevelt worked today over speeches he will make on his forthcoming tour into the south and the middle west. In them, he is expected to reveal his position on the bonus. The addresses are scheduled for Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Baltimore. He had not decided when he left the capital late yesterday for a week-end at home the manner in which he will make his bonus declaration. The matter of when, where and how he would commit himself, his close friends believed, might be decided in the course of preparation for the tour, which starts next Tuesday.

CLEVELAND TO GIVE PRESIDENT BIG RECEPTION

55,000 Apply For Admission To Great Auditorium

5:00—John E. Northrup, candidate for Attorney General—WBMB

7:30—President Hoover—WGN and WMAQ

Tomorrow

6:15—Werner W. Schroeder, Treas. Republican State Central Committee—WBMB

Monday

7:15—Dr. Hada M. Carlson, Republican Women's Leader—WIBO

9:30—Ex-Governor Len Small—WENR

Cleveland, Oct. 15—(AP)—A rousing welcome will be extended President Hoover when he arrives here tonight for one of the principal addresses in his campaign for reelection.

Elaborate preparations were completed today for the reception, and Republican workers said 28,000 persons will be present when his speech is delivered at 7:30 P. M. (Central Standard Time) in the Cleveland public hall. John D. Marshall, chairman of the committee on arrangements, said seating reservations had been requested for 55,000 persons, the largest demand for a Republican gathering since the 1924 national convention.

Accommodate 28,000

Only the 28,000 can be accommodated, however, and that only by opening three annexes to the main auditorium. The main hall will seat 10,200 with 350 party leaders and a band, on the speakers' platform.

Marshall planned to put 10,000 of the crowd in the main annex, 5,000 in the basement, and 3,000 in the music hall. The President's speech will be carried to them through amplifiers, and afterwards he will visit each of the three extra audiences to address them briefly in person.

If the crowd should exceed the 28,000 capacity, one of the streets outside the Auditorium will be roped off and more amplifiers installed. The address also will be broadcast by national radio chains.

SPEAKS ENROUTE

On Board Presidential Special, Enroute to Cleveland, Oct. 15—(A)—President Hoover, speaking at Cumberland, Md., from the rear platform of his train, for a campaign address tonight, told Maryland voters their "first interest lies in sustaining" Republican protective tariff rates and asserted the Democratic party "proposes to reduce" them.

Cumberland was the second of 10 scheduled stops in the President's one-day dash through four states. Between 10,000 and 12,000 people by police estimate, were at the station to greet him. The talk was his first discussion of election issues on this his second campaign trip.

At the first stop in Martinsburg, W. V., the Chief Executive smilingly agreed when one man in the crowd, estimated by members of the President's party at 2,500 people, shouted:

"Use the big stick, Mr. President."

"All right," the President replied, waving his bandaged hand which was bruised and cut from shaking hands with thousands at a White House reception Thursday night. The President spoke at Cumberland, the biggest city in western Maryland, from a microphone placed on his rear platform. He told the crowd that not only the industries of Maryland, but "a large part of her agriculture as well" were "dependent on protective tariff."

Asserting that without it, "practically every farm article produced in the state of Maryland could be imported for less than the present price, depressed as those prices may be," the President added:

Democratic Proposals

"The Democratic party is opposed to a protective tariff. It proposes to reduce these tariffs. In its platform in lieu of a protective tariff it proposes a competitive tariff for revenue. It denounces the present tariffs as exorbitant."

"Their candidates and supporting orators demand reduction in the face of depreciating currencies in foreign countries during the last 12 months which have resulted in still further reduction of their living standards. Indeed the increase in imports into our country of certain lines of manufacture by virtue of this depreciation is already beginning to displace our workmen in certain localities."

"I would submit to the thoughtful citizens of Maryland that your first interest lies in sustaining the party whose policies and whose candidates alone can be relied upon to maintain protection to your jobs, your farms, and your industries from destruction through imports of cheap goods and the products of cheap labor."

Mr. Hoover had not completed his Cleveland speech when the train left Washington, the subject of which has not been divulged.

Ancient Greek Furniture

While there are but few actual examples of early Greek furniture, we know something about it from the colorful illustrations contained on vases and walls which have been unearthed from that dim and distant past. There are on the market today many charming copies of Greek furniture, particularly in the dining room and living room lines. Being pure in both architecture and enrichment they present a freshness of beauty that cannot be surpassed by the most modern designer or builder of furniture. In fact, the L'Art Moderne is of Greek inspiration. The reason for that is, no matter where we turn we can find nothing more inspiring, more correct or comfortable to the eye than the classic proportions laid down by the wonderful race. They come back in all times, in all periods and in all styles of furniture.—Exchange.

"K. C. M. G." Translated

When Sir George Reid, a man prominent in Australian politics, was made knight commander of St. Michael and St. George, he was rather embarrassed by his new dignity, for he liked to be referred to as plain George Reid. At one of his meetings some one called out: "Say, Sir George, what does K. C. M. G. mean?"
Without a moment's hesitation the new knight answered, "Keep calling me George!"—Melbourne Mail.

times come back." Mr. Garfield was introduced by D. W. Grand, Sterling newspaper publisher.
Former Gov. Small said he was optimistic for the success of Republican candidates at the November election in his address yesterday afternoon.

Confident of State
"Our party has visited nearly every county in the state, and we find Illinois still Republican. I believe we have the best state ticket ever presented. Every Republican candidate is honest and will give a good business administration."

"Cook county is bankrupt. Its debts amount to more than $196,000,000 and if Mayor Cermak's candidate is elected a large portion of the debt will have to be borne by the entire state. It would cost Cook county $500,000 at once to elect a man to fill the vacancy of Henry Horner, the Democratic nominee for governor, as Probate Judge if he is elected governor. Judge Horner's salary was increased $5000 a year by an act of the legislature which I approved when I was governor. His salary, which he is drawing regularly, is a part of alleged extravagance of the Republicans about which he complains."

"While other judges are being hired at the rate of $25 a day to take his place, Judge Horner is stumping the state. If he is so sure of becoming governor, why doesn't he resign as Probate Judge, and save Cook county the expense of holding a special election?" the former governor concluded.

Attorney General Carlstrom praised Republican candidates for national and state offices, and assailed the Democratic party. Referring to President Hoover's address at Des Moines, Ia., on Oct. 4, he said the President took the people into his confidence.

Tried To Cut Costs
"President Hoover sought to reduce the cost of government and he asked Congress to retire useless commissions which would reduce expenses $300,000,000, but all the Democratic congress would allow him to cut from the budget was $40,000,000."

"John Garner, the Democratic candidate for vice president, planned to spend $190,000,000 for unnecessary buildings, but the President blocked that move. Probably you all have heard Mrs. Garner's statement, 'while they are getting a ham, we will get a whole hog out of the pork barrel.' Mr. Carlstrom said.

Jacobson-Alcorn Wedding Today a Beautiful Ceremony

This afternoon at 4 o'clock a pretty home wedding of the autumn season was solemnized by the Rev. A. T. Stephenson of the Methodist church of Riverside, Ill., uniting the lives of Miss Ruth Jacobson, older daughter of L. E. Jacobson, and Dr. Marshall Alcorn of Chicago.

The home was beautifully decorated with fall foliage and yellow and white chrysanthemums. The charming bride wore a lovely gown of green chiffon velvet trimmed in kolinsky fur and carried an old fashioned bouquet. Miss Jacobson was attended by her sister, Mrs. Clair Schrock, whose gown was also green, and she carried a small corsage of yellow blossoms.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Dr. Kent Alcorn of Glenview. Dr. and Mrs. Alcorn will live in Chicago where Dr. Alcorn is senior resident in surgery at the Illinois Research Hospital. The bride is a winsome young woman with many friends here.

The out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. A. Alcorn and daughter Marjorie, of Chicago; Dr. and Mrs. Kent Alcorn of Glenview; Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Clark of Sycamore; Dr. and Mrs. W. Berwanger of Glen Ellyn; Misses Alice Davis and Mary Sharpe of Chicago; Misses Thelma Nokes, Iva and Doris Palmer, Evelyn Troupe of Evanston; Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Beckey of Sterling.

Dixon friends join in wishing Dr. and Mrs. Alcorn much happiness.

Miss Scott Entertains Her Club

Miss Billie Scott was hostess to the Ponte Tiesle Club Thursday evening at her home. Bridge was the diversion for the evening, with Miss Gracia Sennett winning the favor for high honors. Tempting refreshments were served, at the conclusion of a happy evening.

LITTLE EVERGREENS GROW

HEY! little evergreens, sturdy and strong, Summer and autumn time hasten along. Harvest the sunbeams and then bind them in sheaves. Range them and change them.

To tufts of green leaves, Delve in the mellow mold. Far, far below

And so, Little evergreens, grow!

Grow, grow, little evergreens grow!

Up, up so airily, To the blue sky,

Clasp tight your tiny cones, Tawny and brown;

By and by, buffeting, Rains will melt down.

By and by, bitterly, Chill winds will blow.

And so, Little evergreens, grow!

Grow, grow, little evergreens grow!

To Sing "Elijah"

Sunday Evening At Dixon M. E. Church

The Rock River Annual Conference program will come to a brilliant climax tomorrow evening at 7:30 when the Rock River Oratorio Society under the leadership of Harold Flamm, will sing the first half of "Elijah", at the Dixon M. E. church.

The choirs of the Fourth Street Methodist Church of Sterling and of the First Methodist church of Dixon and many singers not in either of these church choirs have been training for this event under Mr. Flamm for about six months. Wendelsohn's great music based upon the Biblical story of Elijah.

Vera Young, soprano, Sterling. Amos Thornburg, baritone, Sterling. Beulah Matthews, soprano, Sterling.

Myrtle Will George, contralto, Dixon.

LeRoy Hamp, tenor, Urbana.

Mary Hintz Morrill, organist, Dixon.

Crawford A. Thomas, pianist, Dixon.

Professor LeRoy Hamp, who sings the tenor roll has had an interesting musical career. He began singing as a boy soprano in Toledo, Ohio. Started singing career as church soloist in the Wayne Street Methodist Church, Port Wayne, Indiana, from which church Dr. Travis came to this conference.

In Chicago and vicinity he first sang in the Oak Park Methodist Episcopal church, then for two years at the St. James Methodist Episcopal Church during the time of Dr. Wederspoon.

Beginning the fourth year as musical director of the Gary Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, Wheaton and the third year as tenor soloist at Sinai Temple, Chicago, where the Rabbi is Dr. Louis L. Mann.

Legion Auxiliary In- stalls New Officers Wed'day Afternoon

With Mrs. Emily Cole of Prohettstown, director of thirteenth district as presiding officer, installation of new officers was held by Dixon Unit No. 12, American Legion Auxiliary, Wednesday afternoon, in Legion Hall. The hall was comfortably filled with members and friends. Mrs. Minnie Miller is the new president, while her staff includes Mrs. Mazie Kelley, first vice president; Mrs. Louise Withers, second vice president; Mrs. Viola Stubbs, treasurer; Mrs. Zephia Cinnamon, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Lillian Stevens, historian; Mrs. Dorothy Teschendorf, chaplain; and Miss Pauline Dyer, secretary. Mrs. Miller will name her committees at the next meeting.

Visiting members from Polo unit were Mesdames Ruth Metzler, Mayme Enzler, Hazel Holby and Gussie Roberts; also Mrs. Rhea Wright, Sterling, past district director.

Preceding the installation ceremony a short business session was held. Mrs. Stella Schmucker, the outgoing president, gave a very encouraging report of unit activities during the past year. The membership of Dixon unit has increased very materially over last year. A large amount of clothing was given to local families of unemployed. Cash donations were made to the shipper and cigarette funds for disabled ex-service men in the hospitals; also assisted in buying curtains for the new cottages at the Orphans' Home at Normal, Ill. An American school was established in Paris during the past year for the children of ex-service men now residing there, and Dixon unit contributed a substantial sum for this purpose. Mrs. Schmucker expressed her gratitude to her officers and all members who helped to make this a successful year, in spite of economic conditions. Mrs. Schmucker was presented with the auxiliary past president's ring which she prizes very highly.

Mrs. Cole gave a very interesting and instructive address. She spoke of our great need for increased membership; and, while the state of Illinois still leads in membership, the past year shows a loss. The number of Illinois auxiliary members is 30,133, while the national membership is over 400,000 a loss of 9,000 over last year. Mrs. Cole gave many interesting details concerning the national convention held at Portland, Oregon which she attended. At the close of Mrs. Cole's address, Mrs. Miller in a very gracious manner, presented her with a beautiful pewter water pitcher, in behalf of Dixon unit. Mrs. Miller received a lovely floral piece from Polo unit; also one from her husband and daughter.

Mrs. Miller has been a faithful member of Dixon unit for many years. She has filled the offices of first and second vice president and has also acted as musician. She is well qualified to fill the office of president and members of Dixon unit are looking forward to a successful year under her capable leadership.

A social hour was enjoyed after the meeting adjourned and delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Anna Raffenberg acting as chairman of the refreshment committee. Mrs. Mary Schmucker, who recently returned to Dixon from Denver, Colorado, acted as installing sergeant-at-arms; while the color bearers were Mesdames Mae Chiverton, Emma Phelan, Nona Pomeroy and Miss Mae Teschendorf. Much favorable comment was heard concerning the perfect work of the color bearers and sergeant-at-arms their work added much dignity and beauty to the entire program.

Mrs. Cole announced that she will hold the annual school instruction at Oregon within a few weeks, the exact date to be announced later.

Miss Stansell Member Cornell P. K.

Mount Vernon, Ia., Oct. 15.—Frances Stansell, the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. G. Stansell of Dixon, is one of the new members this year of the Cornell college P. K. club, an organization for Preachers' Kids which came into existence 12 years ago. Significant in the importance of the P. K. club at Cornell is the fact that it was the first organization of its kind to be started and it soon became national in character.

Enrolled among the group of P. K.'s at Cornell are found writers, musicians, athletes, leaders in dramatics and honor students. The old adage about the minister's bad boy is a thing of the past. Statistics about the large number of ministers' sons and daughters in "Who's Who" have proven differently.

Purpose of the P. K. club are well known, their main aims being for social times and the advancement of the welfare of Cornell college. Parties are in order as often as the officers can get time to stage them.

Certain intangible ties bind together all P. K.'s. To be a P. K. is a privilege and honor, and recognizing this, the P. K.'s of Cornell have joined together to have the jolliest times possible.

Do Not Let Junior Become Over Excited

Nerves are telegraph wires. They possess automatic shut-offs. When the brain becomes fogged or excited the switch to the stomach closes and that station ceases work.

This is why so many adults and children otherwise normally healthy suddenly develop digestive upsets without any warning or apparent reason.

Excitement consists of many things. Happiness, sorrow, anger, fear, or any complex suddenly actuated will almost certainly hit at the stomach, especially if the sufferer happens to be of a sensitive, high-strung nature.

Several times this summer I have observed children who were supposed to have a complaint due to heat, go down with fever, purging and vomiting after some form of unusual excitement. It did not occur to their mothers that the nerve strain may have been the principal cause. But there was not much question in my mind that it was to blame.

There is this to be said about a party or a picnic:

Through sheer anticipation a child becomes taut. He thinks about it beforehand, then there is the actual preparation and the trip.

Usually his emotional state keeps up through the day, often accompanied by physical over-exertion.

All Parties Aren't Fun

We have a habit of thinking that anything in the nature of a holiday or celebration delights a child. For the most part it does, too. But it depends very much on what goes with it.

A little girl recently was invited to a lovely party where all the other children were strangers. She could not protest against going because she saw how delighted everyone else was about it. They all kept talking and talking about to do and not to do. Naturally shy and unadjusted, it was hard for her to meet even one strange little girl and make up with her.

Being thrown suddenly into the midst of two dozen was torture. Yet she smiled and tried to be friendly and put up the appearance of having a good time.

The automatic shut-off clicked. Her stomach was not receiving. But beautiful refreshments were served and although she was not hungry she was urged to eat this and that, and she did.

Home—just in time. Bed, fever, throwing everything off she had eaten. Doctor! "Summer complaint." Which was partly true, as heat never helps.

This was fear, or a complex at work. Happiness emotionally overdone will do the same thing. Any kind of excitement.

The crux of it all is that at the very time children should not over-eat or eat at all, they do. Any type of celebration is inevitably accompanied by unusual or rich food.

A nervous child is fortunate if he lives a quiet uneventful life, especially during the hot months.

Palmyra Farm And Home Bureau Com- munity Club Meeting

The Palmyra Farm and Home Bureau Community Club held a well attended meeting at Sugar Grove church with John Sheaffer presiding. After the business meeting the following program was rendered:

Vocal duet — Catherine Scholl, Catherine Sheaffer.
Piano solo—Mary Jane Boynton.
Vocal duet—Young sons of Geo. Le Fevre.

Ukelele solo—Wilda Shank.
Mr. Sheaffer then introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Kammeyer of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Polo, who gave a splendid talk on "Building A Nation," and in part said: "Our forefathers came to America firstly to obtain freedom to worship God and not as some nations did, to worship money as their god, and if we remain faithful to God, he will remain faithful to us."

Mr. Bamborough, who accompanied Rev. Kammeyer, spoke a few words.

Mr. Yale gave a short talk on grain marketing problems. A wienie roast was the closing feature of the evening, enjoyed by old and young alike.

The next month's meeting will be a picnic supper.

Macomber-M'Farlain Wedding, Nov. 8th

Friends in Dixon have received invitations to the wedding of Virginia Nancy Macomber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Emmons Macomber of Washington, D. C., to Alexander Caughy McFarlain, on Tuesday, Nov. 8th, at 8 o'clock that evening in the Petworth Baptist church at Washington.

The bride's mother was formerly Miss Georgia Brown of Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown.

SCOTT DOW A GUEST AT HAZELWOOD

Scott Dow of Chicago is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Walgreen at Hazelwood.

Clergymen Were Walgreen's Guests

At beautiful Hazelwood, the country estate of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walgreen, an unique session of the Rock River Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church was held Friday afternoon—the first session ever held in the open air by the conference in its existence.

263 ministers of the conference were entertained at a delightful luncheon, being received personally by their host and hostess, and then, charmed by the beauty of the estate and the almost spring-like air, the ministers held a business session in the open-air amphitheater at the estate, within a few miles of the birthplace of the conference at Mt. Morris in 1840.

A brief historical sketch of the organization and growth of the conference was given after which Dr. Gilbert Stansell, pastor of the Dixon church, presented each of the ministers with a copy of L. B. Neighbour's history of the church. It was a most enjoyable occasion and diversion for the clergymen, who were invited by Mr. and Mrs. Walgreen to "come again."

Clerical guests of the Walgreens at Hazelwood during the conference were: Morgan Williams, Chicago; Blair S. Latschaw, Evanston; Chas. R. Goff, Oak Park; Steward White, Downers Grove; Harold C. Case, Glenview; Howard Buxton, Glenview; and Horace G. Smith, Winnetka.

Stacey - Slain Wedding Today

This morning at 9 o'clock Miss Helen G. Stacey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Stacey, 81 Lincoln avenue, and John Edward Slain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slain, 513 Crawford avenue, were united in marriage, at the parsonage to St. Patrick's Catholic church, with Rev. Father T. L. Walsh officiating at the ceremony.

Miss Lois Stacey, sister of the bride, and Eugene Slain, brother of the bridegroom, attended the couple.

The bride was handsomely attired in a suit of beet-root red with fur trimming, with hat and accessories harmonizing. Miss Lois Stacey wore a frock of black crepe, with trimmings of red and accessories matching. Both the bride and maid of honor wore corsets of yellow roses.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Slain left by motor for Chicago where they will spend a few days before returning to make their home in Dixon for the present.

Miss Johnson Is Guest Of Honor

Miss, Ruth Johnson, who is to be married to Elton Scholl this winter, was the guest of honor at a most delightful bridge party given last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sargent, with Mrs. Sargent and Mrs. E. B. Ryan as the hostesses.

There were guests for four tables of bridge. The decorations were most appropriate and attractive in fall flowers and foliage.

Mrs. Wilbur Winn won the favor for high honors and Mrs. Ross Bovey won the consolation favor.

Mrs. Sargent and Mrs. Ryan served most delicious refreshments. The hostesses and the guests then paid a gracious compliment to Miss Johnson in presenting her with a handsome walnut table, with their best wishes for happiness in advance.

Regular Meeting D. U. V. Thursday

Daughters of Union Veterans, Tent No. 81, Dixon, met in regular session Thursday afternoon in G. A. R. hall. There was a good attendance of officers and members.

Very satisfactory reports of the various chairmen of different committees were given.

The next meeting will be Oct. 27 when the Department President and Inspector will be here to inspect the ritualistic work of Dixon Tent 81.

The meeting then adjourned.

Halloween Party For Camp and Aux.

Baldwin Camp U. S. W. V. and their Auxiliary, will enjoy a picnic supper Tuesday evening in G. A. R. hall, to be followed by a Halloween frolic and masquerade. All members of the Camp and Auxiliary, and their families are urged to attend.

LADIES G. A. R. MEET MONDAY EVENING

The Ladies of the G. A. R., Dixon Circle No. 73, will meet in G. A. R. hall Monday evening and a good attendance is desired, as there is to be initiation of candidates.

IN PERILOUS TIMES—CAUTION.

It is rather strange that it should be so, and yet all our history demonstrates that in periods of deep adversity when public and private debts harass the people, when business is dull, when unemployment is widespread, it is the party and the program of conservation that appeals most strongly to the voters.

It would seem as if the natural trend under such circumstances would be toward radicalism. It would seem as if the more revolutionary the program presented by a political party, the greater its popular appeal would be. "We have tried the old system," the people might be regarded as saying, "and it has brought us nothing but distress. Now let us face squarely about and go in the other direction. Things certainly can't get any worse and there is a chance they may get better." That would seem to be the natural line of argument in times of economic stress and strain.

But our history does not bear out this assumption. Times were terribly hard in the seventies, following the inflation period of the Civil War. Money was scarce, unemployment was widespread, business was at a standstill. It seemed to the superficial observer as if the situation were made to order for the radical. And so a political party arose which offered an unlimited issue of greenbacks, "easy money" which, the people were told, would advance prices, restore employment, stimulate business. The people listened to the alluring promises, they heard the specious arguments, and when election day came they voted for the Republican party which had painted no enticing pictures, had offered no magic formula, which had told them only that if kept in power it would resume specie payments, maintain the gold standard, stand by the principles of sound government laid down in the Constitution.

Times were hard again in the Nineties, terribly hard, and again the radical thought he saw his opportunity. Not greenbacks this time, but "Free Silver" was the battle cry, "easy money," bringing better prices, affording everybody employment. Again the people listened and weighed, and again they voted for the Republican party on the most conservative platform it had ever written. The sure instinct of the people warned them against entering upon unknown paths, against setting sail upon an uncharted sea.

And so in the present period of economic distress the trend of public sentiment is obviously away from radicalism. That was demonstrated in the primaries that preceded the national conventions. It was demonstrated notably in Wisconsin and Iowa and Pennsylvania. For the first time in twenty-eight years there was not a radical delegation in the Republican convention from any state. The people turned grimly away from the "sure cure" doctors, from the fire alarm orators demanding that they about-face and march in the other direction, from the revolutionaries who shouted that everything that is, is wrong. And that is what they are going to do at the coming election. They will scan the measures that were introduced in the last session of Congress and that were approved by men who will control the government if the Democratic party is placed in power—measures that would fasten the debt upon America, that would debase our currency, that would add enormously to our interest-bearing debt, that would inevitably increase taxes with no corresponding benefit—and they will turn again to the party that always keeps its feet on the ground, that does not promise more than it can perform, that steers a steady course whether the weather be foul or fair.

PASS THE BOND ISSUE.

Farmers and farm owners in Illinois are facing an increase of $5,000,000 in state taxes on their property this year unless the proposed state bond issue for $20,000,000 is approved in the election on Nov. 8. This increase would amount to $25 on the average quarter section farm. In many counties it would wipe out all decreases in taxes due to cuts both in valuations of property and in levies of taxes for county and local purposes already made this year. The property owners of Illinois must understand that this extra burden of taxation now rests on them. The power of the state to tax property is pledged to pay back this money already spent. The only way property owners can throw off the load is to pass the state bond issue in the general election on Nov. 8, thus shifting the burden solely to counties in which state relief funds have been expended. Bonds will then be paid over a period of years, out of each county's share of gasoline tax funds, in proportion to the expenditures of state relief funds therein. To pass, the bond issue must receive a majority of all votes cast for candidates for the lower House of the state legislature. It is imperative that every voter go to the polls Nov. 8 and cast his or her ballot for this measure.

State Emergency Relief Bond Issue Committee.

Political Highlights of Week Over The Nation

BY BYRON PRICE

Washington, Oct. 15—(AP)—The presidential wars of 1932 are entering their last phase with the drumfire continuing energetically all along the line, but with the heaviest artillery moving into position for one final concentrated bombardment on two important salients in the east and middle west.

During the present week the action has been scattered and various, and only a foretaste of what is to come. Governor Roosevelt has spoken from Albany, outlining his views on relief. Former President Coolidge, in Madison Square Garden, asked for the re-election of President Hoover. Former Senator James A. Reed, chosen by the Democrats to reply at Des Moines to Mr. Hoover, asked for the election of Mr. Roosevelt.

All of this time, in the political dug-outs further back, the high commands of the two parties were taking stock of the situation at the long-awaited turn of mid-October, and planning in detail the last head-long dash toward their November 8 objective.

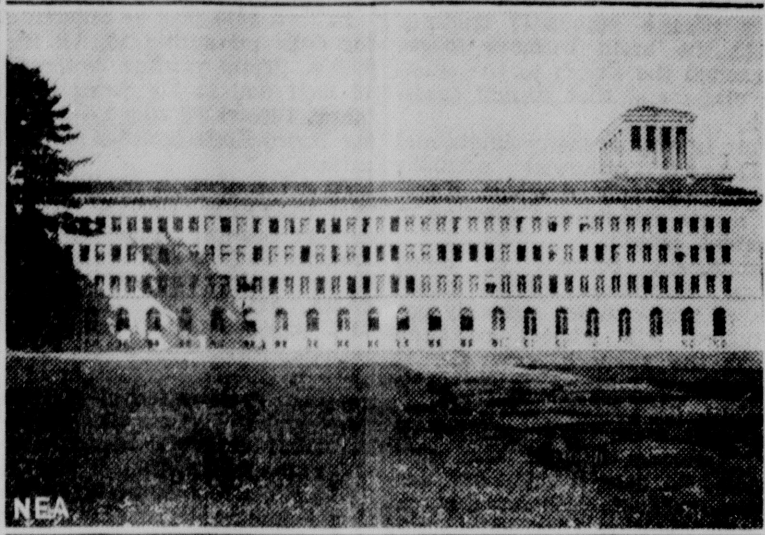

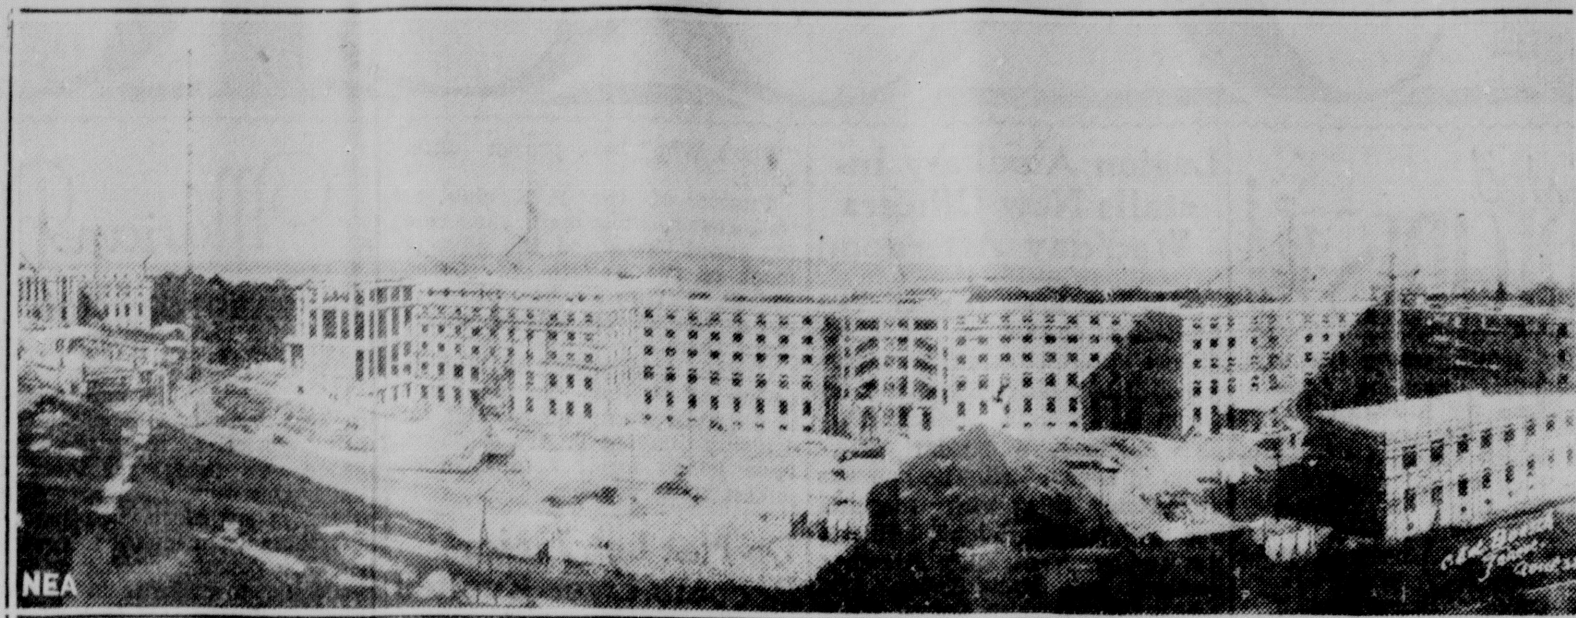

Enough of these plans now are known to indicate with some definiteness where the pressure will be applied from now on. They point especially to the eastern states of New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts, and to the mid-western states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

President Hoover will speak tonight in Cleveland. His plans beyond that are not definite, but it is likely he will go even further west a week later, swinging through Indiana and Illinois to St. Louis. Still later he will be in the East—New York Certainly and perhaps New Jersey and Massachusetts also.

Governor Roosevelt leaves Albany Tuesday for his second expedition as far west as St. Louis, and travel through the border states and south to Atlanta before he returns to wind up his campaign in New York.

DANGER OF GOING BROKE ADDED TO TROUBLES OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Only Half of Member States Have Paid Their 1932 Dues; Funds Run Low

Few people realize how extensive an undertaking the League of Nations is, even in the physical aspects of its plant. Above, the huge new office building of the League now under construction, overlooking the Lake of Geneva. Lower left, the International Labor Office, in which 1000 people work, and lower right, the Disarmament Conference building with the present temporary headquarters of the League, a former hotel.

The Democratic emphasis on the east during the last days of October.

Tentative plans route him through New York, New Jersey and New England, starting early next week.

Speaker John N. Garner spoke last night from New York in his first major address of the campaign. He dealt "in a general way" with criticisms of Democratic congressional leadership that have been voiced by President Hoover and former President Calvin Coolidge.

Ogden L. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury and one of the chief reliances of the Republican speaking staff, has returned from his trip to the coast. He spoke Thursday in Chicago, and will be kept busy henceforth in the east.

All of this indicates that so far as the chief figures of the campaign are concerned, the west must now be left chiefly in the hands of local talent. The two vice-presidential nominees probably will both be heard west of the Mississippi, but the two sectors further east will have the first attention of the political managers.

In the eastern group around New York and in the central states more than one election has been won and lost. It is difficult to figure how any party which loses both of these sectors can expect to win a national victory.

Neither does either party seem disposed to depend on one of these two groups alone. The effort on both sides will be to capture both of them.

WEST BROOKLYN

By HENRY GEHANT

WEST BROOKLYN—The members of the Joseph Chaon family and their children enjoyed a family reunion at the Henry Chaon hunting lodge on Wednesday evening where a fine time was had. The affair was given in honor of Grandma Chaon who will cherish memories of the event for many months to come. Following card playing a chicken supper was then served.

Miss Helen Dinges was home from Dixon Sunday and visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dinges.

Miss Mae Montavon returned home from Indiana Harbor Monday after a two week's visit at the home of her cousin in that city.

Attorney Clyde Smith stopped off here on Saturday afternoon for a brief visit with friends enroute to Paw Paw for an over Sunday visit.

Daily Health Talk

ELECTRICITY IN MEDICINE

The names of several physicians figure prominently in the early history of electricity.

Volta, from whose name we derive one of the measuring units of electricity, the volt, and Galvani after whom is named the Galvanometer, both contributed to electrical knowledge.

They also were pioneers in observing the physiological effects of the passage of an electric current through living and dead tissues.

Electricity has been applied therapeutically almost since time immemorial. In the early ages such applications were essentially mystical in nature.

Amber beads, for example, were believed to possess health-inducing qualities and were worn in the same manner as some now wear amulets.

In more recent years, electricity has come to be used in almost every branch of medicine and for a wide variety of purposes. It is employed in diagnosis, in medical and surgical treatment and in experimental and laboratory studies.

The X-ray is an invaluable instrument in making diagnosis and in administering treatment in certain conditions.

The possibility of producing by means of electricity intense and relatively heatless light has enabled us to explore body cavities heretofore practically invisible.

The heat-generating powers of electricity have been employed surgically with remarkable effects.

The so-called radio knife which enables the surgeon to cut through tissues with the ease of a razor edge, but which at the same time, in contrast to the scalpel, sears the cut edges, sealing blood vessels and thus minimizing bleeding, has proved a boon to the surgeon.

By means of this electrical scalpel, we can today operate surgically on the brain in a manner heretofore impossible.

Several Of Outstanding Importance On Day's Schedule

New York, Oct. 15—(AP)—Pitt and Army in the east, Michigan and Ohio State, Purdue and Wisconsin in the midwest, and Tennessee-Vanderbilt and Tennessee-Alabama in the south, these were the high spots in the national football slate today.

Sectional, and in some cases national, championship hopes hinged upon the outcome of these battles.

With the same passing combinations of Paul Reider and Warren Heller that baffled the Army last year, Pitt was a well-defined favorite over the Cadets in their big clash at West Point, although there seemed no doubt whatever that Major Ralph I. Sasse had developed an adequate defense for any Panther aerial bombardment.

Face Heavy Going
Michigan and Purdue, outstanding contenders now for the Big Ten title, faced the prospect of heavy going today. Ohio State usually has saved its best football to flash at Michigan's expense and Dr. Clarence Spears' Wisconsin outfit apparently packs the power necessary to test Purdue to the limit.

Likewise Tulane, the defending champion, and Tennessee were favored to repeat 1931's victories over Vanderbilt and Alabama but there would be no real cause for great surprise should the result be reversed in each instance.

Sharing interest with Pitt and Army in the east were the Cornell-Princeton, Dartmouth-Penn. Colgate-LaFayette and New York University-Georgetown contests, all of which had a bearing on the mythical eastern championship situation. Cornell, Dartmouth, Colgate and N. Y. U. were the popular choices but only Colgate's defeat could be classed as a major upset.

Syracuse meets Southern Methodist in the major intercollegiate encounter with Columbia entertaining Virginia, Holy Cross playing Detroit and Navy facing Ohio University.

Other Attractions
The Indiana-Iowa and Illinois-Northwestern games rounded out the Big Ten program with Minnesota playing Nebraska, Chicago meeting Knox and Notre Dame battling Drake in other attractions.

Kentucky, current leader of the Southern Conference race on the basis of won and lost records, anticipated little trouble from Washington and Lee. Other conference games involved Georgia Tech and Auburn, Duke and Maryland, Mississippi State and Louisiana State, and Georgia and North Carolina.

Iowa State and Kansas State were picked to hang up Big Six Conference victories over Kansas and Missouri respectively, and Texas Christian and Baylor were the choices over Texas A. and M. and Arkansas in the southwest.

Texas, which rolled up 65 points on Missouri last week, faced a tougher Bix Six intersectional foe in Oklahoma.

California clashed with Washington State and Oregon played U. C. L. A. in the only Pacific Coast conference games of the day. Southern California and Stanford, two of the major threats for the title, met non-conference opposition in Loyola of Los Angeles and West Coast Army respectively.

Utah's Rocky Mountain Conference champions hoped to pull a brace and beat back Brigham Young in that section's biggest battle.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 15—(AP)—Pittsburgh invaded the plans of West Point to battle Army today in the east's outstanding football attraction.

The game brought together two undefeated arrays and jeopardized the eastern, as well as national, championship hopes of both Pitt, on the basis of its terrific attack as evidenced by the 120 points it has rolled up against Ohio Northern, West Virginia and Duquesne, was the favorite. Army, after a mediocre showing against Furman, rolled over Carleton College in impressive fashion last week.

The Panthers with the aid of the amazing Paul Reider-Warren Heller passing combination, swamped the Cadets last season, 26-0. Heller and Reider were back again today, ready to pass or run as the situation demanded.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 15—(AP)—Northwestern's Wildcats invaded Champaign today to meet Illinois in a battle upon which the comeback hopes of both elevens were pinned.

Northwestern, a dominant power in Western Conference football for the past three seasons, had only to retrace its steps as far back as the Michigan game last week for a memory of defeat. The Illini however were out to make a beginning on the job of erasing the memory of two sour seasons.

The Wildcats were odds-on favorites but it was Illinois' first test in Big Ten competition this season and there was suspicion that Coach Bob Zuppke was about ready to produce one of his upsets.

LaFayette Ind., Oct. 15—(AP)—Wisconsin so bothersome in recent years to Purdue returned today to the Ross-Ade Stadium for a renewal of their annual gridiron argument.

Memories of last season's 21 to 24 defeat that put Purdue in the position of being only a share holder in the Western Conference championship served to put the Belknapets on guard against a repetition of any such occurrence.

Both teams, away to good starts in the 1932 title race, were reported in good shape for today's game. It was the home-coming game at Purdue.

Chicago, Oct. 15—(AP)—The football boys from Old Siwash, otherwise Knox College of Galesburg, came to Chicago today to meet "Old Man" Stagg's forty-first and last Maroon eleven.

The improved Maroons did not expect undue trouble from Knox and the game served as a final breather before the opening of the conference season against Indiana next week. Knox already had suffered two defeats, losing to Western Illinois Teachers and Augustana, but was at top strength today for the first time of the season.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 15—(AP)—It was Drake's turn today to go through the Notre Dame football mill.

The Bulldogs, who have given Notre Dame some brisk battles in the past, were primed to cause as much trouble as possible, but the power of the Irish was just about certain to more than take care of anything that might happen. Coach Hearty Anderson planned to start his second team, but it was a cinch that Drake would have to look over at least two other elevens.

Columbus, O., Oct. 15—(AP)—The tangle of combat filled the air today as two great football teams, Michigan and Ohio State, prepared for their twenty-ninth meeting before a crowd of some 50,000 persons.

Though rated as the underdog, Ohio was expected to give the Wolverines a good fight. "We'll give them a battle," was Coach William's terse statement, while Harry Kipke, the Wolverine mentor, said he was expecting a great game.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 15—(AP)—Iowa, the only Western Conference football team Indiana never has defeated, came to Memorial Stadium today for a homecoming day battle with the Hoosiers.

Still smarting from overwhelming defeat at Wisconsin a week ago, the Hawkeyes pinned their victory hopes on a heavy line and fast backfield. Indiana, with one tie on its record in the Big Ten race, planned to mix an aerial attack with dashes by its speedy halfbacks.

Almost Everybody Would Manage Reds
Cincinnati, O., Oct. 14—(AP)—Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds, began to wonder today whether the sign outside the door really reads: "Manager wanted. No experience necessary."

Since the word went out that Dan Howley had directed his last game for the Reds, Weil has been swamped with applications for the job. Even a saxophone player and a mule skinner have offered their "expert services."

One devoted student of the heavens wrote suggesting that his knowledge of the stars might be just the thing necessary to produce a winning team next year.

Weil, however, wasn't prepared

What! More Carideo?

Northwestern University is in line for another taste of football as it is dished up by Frank Carideo. The former quarterback, who starred against the Wildcats during his years at Notre Dame, is coaching at the University of Missouri, and leads his show-me squad into action against Northwestern, Oct. 1. Carideo has been teaching Percy Gill, above, 210-pound fullback, a few of the kicking tricks which annoyed Northwestern in previous years. There's a chance Gill and his mates will give Coach Hanley a bad afternoon.

Washington has another "boy manager." The man is Joe Cronin, 26 years old, shortstop. And Clark Griffith, trying to alleviate the sting that the dismissal of Walter Johnson gave the fans, could not have chosen a more popular man for the job than the young fellow from Frisco.

It is an odd situation. Bucky Harris, the "boy manager" who won pennants for the Senators, is at Detroit now, and it is no secret that he would like to manage the Washington club. His home is in the Capital.

But Joe Cronin, awarded the baseball portfolio, is the player in whom Harris, and Harris alone, had faith, when Joe first appeared in a Senator training camp. It was through Harris' encouragement and Harris' influence upon Clark Griffith that Cronin ever got a chance to become the regular Washington shortstop.

Now Harris finds that the man he backed with all his might, after others had soured on him, is manager of the club in Bucky's home town.

CAME UP AT 18—

The story started in San Francisco, Oct. 12, 1906, when Joe was born. It continued on the sandlots of his native city.

Joe was only 18 when he made his first appearance in the big show. It was 1925 and the Pirates, with Glenn Wright at short and Pie Traynor at third, were not worrying about that side of the diamond at all. They sent him to Johnston, Pa.

Cronin was not an especially good fielder at the time. He was a nervous kid and used to throw for the application of a self-styled retired Mississippi planter, who recommended himself on grounds that "having handled mules all his life x x x etc." However, Weil saw certain possibilities here.

Fortunately, such real experts as Honus Wagner and Donnie Bush, former Pirate manager, are also among the applicants, and both have Weil's serious consideration.

KIDNAPED MAN BETTER
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 14—(AP)—H. W. Mooney, brother of Ralph Mooney, Fort Dodge, Iowa, stock raiser, who reported to police he was kidnapped at his home Monday night, and A. R. Teller, a friend, conferred with police today regarding the case.

Physicians advised the injured man, who is suffering from a blow on the head, to remain quiet for about two weeks. They announced he was improving.

Population of the Netherlands East Indies has increased about 23 per cent since 1920. It is now about 1,000,000.

Beeg Strong Greek Foolback

A true son of Old Athens, shown above, is punishing neighboring football lines for Washington State College, Pullman, Wash. He is George Theodore, 240 pounds of fullback, whose ramming thrusts are causing no little concern among Pacific coast teams. In a recent game Big George averaged eight yards each on eight consecutive plays. In addition to his plunging, he can heave and kick the oval when necessary. He tried out for the Olympic team and placed sixth among the nation's shotputters.

The first edition of the Dixon high school student newspaper will make its appearance within a short time, it has been announced, the seniors to assume the staff positions and to be assisted by the juniors.

The staff members were nominated by the student body and approved by the faculty. The following students will be in charge of the first edition of the publication:

Business Staff
The business department is composed of the following:

William Barthelme, business manager; John Carey, assistant; Graydon Moll, advertising manager; Paul Blass, assistant; Enos Keithley, circulation manager; Mildred Elcholtz, Josephine Bevilacqua, Lulu Koon, Iola Kennedy, Maxine Kitson and Helen Rorer, typists.

The present staff will edit the paper during the first semester. After next February, assistants will take charge and other members of the junior class will be elected assistants.

The new publication will be published under the supervision of the English department and students will receive credit for work submitted. A name for the publication will be selected following the first edition.

Death Rate Lower During Depression

Chicago, Oct. 14—(AP)—Death to a certain extent at least, has taken a holiday.

R. J. Birnbaum of Springfield, Ill., vice president of the Illinois Society of Cemetery Superintendents and Officials, talked about it last night at the organization's fall meeting.

"We get no sympathy," he said. "The average fellow says 'What's the matter? How can a business depression affect you? People die just like they always did.'"

"Which is not the truth. Of course they die, but the death rate has fallen considerably during the depression. I think the fact is people are living saner lives now that they haven't as much money to spend. They are healthier and live longer."

WANTS CERMAK OUSTED
Chicago, Oct. 14—(AP)—State's Attorney John A. Swanson was requested today to institute quo warranto proceedings to remove Mayor A. J. Cermak from office by Attorney W. W. O'Brien, an independent candidate for Governor, on the grounds that the mayor owns public utility stock.

In answer to Swanson's instructions that he file a petition in proper legal form, O'Brien said his petition was already in the mail. He said that he would institute mandamus proceedings in the Supreme Court if Swanson does not act on the petition.

O'Brien said that an Illinois Commerce Commission's office becomes vacant if it is shown that the holder owns public utility stock. The mayor, as president of the city council, is subject to the same regulations, he said.

GARNER MAKES NO MENTION OF HIS PORK BARREL

Is Also Shy On Any Finance Program In Radio Talk

New York, Oct. 15—John N. Garner, Democratic nominee for Vice President, opened his campaign Friday night with a radio address in which he denied that he is a "dangerous radical" and took the Hoover administration to task on the scores of national budget deficit finance and depression relief measures.

Garner devoted long sections of his speech to quotations from President Hoover's views on the subjects he discussed as carried in the President's recent Des Moines address and messages to congress. He invited his audience to weigh the efforts of the last Democratic congress to solve the nation's outstanding problems with the administration's program, but wanted it understood that "the important thing is not whether Herbert Hoover or John Garner is the greater authority on finance and legislation." He wanted the "printed facts," he said, to speak for themselves.

Silent On Own Program
The "facts," as Mr. Garner recited them, made no mention of his own memorable $2,000,000 "pork barrel" scheme framed as a post-office building program to furnish work for the nation's unemployed and were almost as shy on the Garner finance program.

He charged the President with misleading statements regarding the country's finances and insisted that in spite of all the administration's sins "there is nothing the matter with the finances and credit of the United States except gross mismanagement."

"We have at this moment every element to promote prosperity except one," he said. "That one is confidence in our credit structure."

Need Only Safe Ratio
Apropos of "sound money," however, the speaker assured his audience that "a gold currency doesn't have to keep 100 cents in gold in the till for every paper dollar any more than a bank has to keep all deposits in cash. You only have to keep a safe ratio. What ratio is safe depends on confidence."

As to the depression, Mr. Garner denied that it had "come from abroad," and instead that it had been caused by the folly of the administration and its policy on tariff, foreign loans, and the budget.

"It came from our own folly and illusion," he said, "not the least of which was that prosperity was a great that poverty would soon be abolished."

"Plain Business Man"
Early in the course of his remarks the nominee undertook to disabuse the minds of his hearers of any suspicion they might entertain that he is a "dangerous radical." Instead of just the "plain business man" he says he actually is.

The Very Rev. E. J. M. Nutter, D. D., dean of the Episcopal Church Theological Seminary located at Nashotah, Wisconsin, will be the speaker at the 10:45 A. M. service tomorrow. This is the opening service in connection with the celebration of the 60th anniversary of St. Luke's.

Dean Nutter is well known as a preacher. Before he was elected dean in 1925 he was rector of the Church of the Messiah, Detroit, which next to the Cathedral in that city, is the largest parish in the State of Michigan. Previous to that he was rector of Grace Church, Chicago.

Everyone is invited to participate in the events of St. Luke's Anniversary and all are urged to avail themselves of this opportunity to hear the Dean.

BACK TO GOD SOC.

Chicago—A national movement to make America God-conscious was launched here today by the Back to God Society, an organization which hopes to enlist the cooperation of every Protestant denomination in the country. Not only to fill the pews of the churches made vacant by the religious slump of recent years, but to cause the people to think more in the Christian spirit. "Our aim is to restore a God-consciousness to the American people," said the Rev. Dr. Bertram Wimbough, President of the society. There are 100,000 to 200,000 pastors in the United States, and we are writing to these at the rate of about 100 per week to enlist their cooperation to make this movement a success.

The history of religion down the ages shows that the nations that were prosperous were those that were imbued with the Christian spirit. When the people got away from God, signs of stress usually followed. In this present critical, financial situation, with its attendant hardships, we are also in a religious slump; and we feel that if we can get the shrinking Christian to turn to the church for help, and to us to get back to God, we may be able to help in a measure in bringing this country back to normal, and prosperity. The welfare of our national life, in fact its very existence, depends upon it.

America was born of a God-consciousness. Our early legislation went on the statute books laden with the progress of a God-loving people. It was then our forefathers overcame great difficulties and built a great nation. In the great whirl of our modern life, America has lost her God-consciousness. Now we propose to lead the way to a great revival of religion throughout the nation and world.

We propose to interest, and enlist, a great array of workers for the movement. In order to get the country acquainted with its purpose.

STAN BALL accuses ASPER DELO, timber king, of crooked practice and of ordering men shot to try to check up on his activities. Ball says he is making a check and Delo tells him he will personally prevent it. Upon leaving Delo's office Ball saves DONA Delo's daughter, from kidnappers. He slips away when he finds who she is, telling her he is STANLEY BLACK.

DONALD WINTERS, in love with Dona, goes with her to Three Rivers to get Delo to give up his mad fight with Ball. They find Ball accused of killing a senator. Dudley has secured a license and has had a marriage certificate filled out to marry Dona. She uses the certificate after Delo is ambushed and wounded to keep him from taking any more part in the hunt. Ball is caught by SWERGIN, Delo's timber boss, while listening to Dona tell of her marriage. He escapes but believes her married. Dona rides out to find Stanley Black, who she believes is the certificate holder. She finds him, she shoots at him and he takes a wound, capturing her. Asper learns of her capture and heads a posse but fails to find her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVIII

DONA sat huddled on the stone couch, her jacket pulled around her and her eyes blazing. "Take one step toward me and I'll—" Dona's words tumbled out in an angry torrent.

"Scream?" Stan was smiling now. "I'll do more than that!"

"You might let me have one of the blankets from that bed. There are five on it." Stan stood with his hands on his hips, a wicked light in his gray eyes.

"Help yourself." Suddenly Dona realized that she had been making an unnecessary fuss. Her anger did not abate, however. She had been fooled and that in itself was an insult.

Stan took his blanket and wrapped it into a little roll. "You may turn the light down and blow it out," he said as he turned to ward the opening. "Good night."

Dona refused to answer. She was sitting on the bunk, thinking deeply. "I'll do more than that!"

The scraping of outside rails sounded as if the train had been stopped. She got up and walked to the entrance. Ten steps down the stone corridor showed her what she wanted to know. Her captor sat with his back against the cliff, his long legs stretched out across the entrance. He was smoking, drawing in slow, deliberate draughts of smoke and letting them curl upward of their own fancy. The black mare stood with her muzzle against his arm.

HE tossed aside his third cigaret and arose. Patting the black mare's neck Stan walked to the edge of the shelf and looked down below. His cave rose like a little balcony above Pass Creek. Down in the canyon he could see lights

DONA watched this silhouette for a full five minutes, then she crept back to the bunk and lay down. She had to admit that Ball was a complex person. His lean jaw his steady eyes and his tight mouth spelled all that she knew him to be, but there were times when the lips took on a half-smile and the gray eyes lighted deep down. The hunted, challenging wariness of his manner was the tell-tale trait that marked him for what he was. Dona had met Ball's kind before.

Her musings led her nowhere and she fell to planning how she could escape. Getting up, she examined the supplies. There was enough water for another day and possibly enough food for three meals such as he had eaten that night. Dona made up her mind to play Ball's game and see if he would not slip away on a foraging expedition.

She returned to the bunk and slipped off her boots and jacket. Without hesitation she slid into the bunk and snuggled down. She thought with grim satisfaction that she would spend a much warmer night than her captor. The cave was high up on the rim and the night would be cold to the point of frost.

Out at the entrance of the cave Stan Ball sat and berated himself for taking Dona prisoner. It had been a wild fancy, a decision of a second's consideration. He was always making them and afterward paying for his blunders. All he could hope to do by this step was to rouse the posse to renewed vigor and add more men to the already overgrown posse. He had deliberately lessened his chances of escape.

But the thing that made him feel most guilty was keeping the girl overnight in the cave. On the way up the mountain it had seemed an excellent way to arouse Dona's husband from his complacency and force him to realize that he should be more attentive to such a wife. Now Stan was not so sure all that would work out as he had intended. Winters might turn out to be the wronged and enraged husband.

HE tossed aside his third cigaret and arose. Patting the black mare's neck Stan walked to the edge of the shelf and looked down below. His cave rose like a little balcony above Pass Creek. Down in the canyon he could see lights moving and the night breeze carried the rumble of machinery to him faintly. Stan watched the scene grimly, almost sadly.

He came back and made a bed in the mouth of the cave away from the chill wind of the upper hills. And he slept soundly his six gun tucked under his leg and his hat laid across his face. Daylight was an hour old before he woke. Sitting up, he listened for sounds from the cave. None came and he ventured inside.

Dona was still sleeping soundly. Her trim shoulder was exposed and it rose and fell gently with her breathing. Stan smiled a crooked smile and retreated to the bench outside. He was sitting in the sun when she finally made her appearance.

"Good morning," he greeted her, without moving.

She gave him a cold stare and fixed her arms.

Stan got to his feet and faced her. "We'll retire to the breakfast room at once. I've been starving for two hours."

Dona reentered the cave without a word of protest. She had a plan and she intended to carry it out step by step. She sat down on the slab and watched Ball prepare breakfast if she had expected him to be sparing of the thin slab of bacon she was disappointed. He cut it all up and spread it in the skillet.

The fire roared pleasantly and the bacon and coffee gave off an aroma that made Dona's mouth water. Stan produced a bit of flour and made four griddle cakes. He browned them to a turn and flipped two of them on Dona's plate. Then he smothered them with strips of crisp bacon. A steaming cup of black coffee completed the fare.

With a satisfied feeling, Dona devoured the cakes and bacon. At this rate they would be out of food with another meal. Nothing was said. Stan had dropped back into a moody silence. He was watchful of the entrance, and always his hand was near his belt. He was typically the outlaw. Ball from Blind River.

After breakfast Stan let the dishes stand dirty. There was not enough water left to wash them. He sauntered out into the sunshine and stood watching the blue haze in the canyon below. Dona finally came out and sat on the other side of the entrance.

NOON came with a pleasant heat that was not oppressive but that warmed deeply. Dona had busied herself with a careful check of the country below. She was sure she had spotted the Pass Creek trail and that she could go to it if she escaped. Ball had stayed close enough to her so that any attempt to slip away would have been foolish.

He halted in making a turn across the little shelf and stood looking down at her. His eyes were expressionless and his lips formed a straight line.

"I'll make a bargain, he began. "And I won't listen, she cut in. "I have food cached down the trail a half mile. I'll get it and replenish our supply of water. You need not go if you will promise to be here when I return. If you do not care to promise I'll take you along." His eyes searched her face rapidly.

Dona met his gaze squarely. Here was a chance. She did not owe this killer a promise kept. He did not deserve it. She got to her feet slowly. "I'll stay here," she answered. "But I will get you if I can."

"You will be here when I get back?" Stan held her eyes with his level gaze.

"I promise." Dona met his challenging glance fairly.

Without a further word he saddled the black mare and rode out through the cleft of rock. Dona ran inside the cave and began to look about for any article she might need. Her eyes fell on the picture in the rock niche. She pulled it down and stuffed it under her jacket. Suddenly a thought struck her.

Suppose Ball was only testing her? Then, too, she had promised him that she would stay. Her pride and sense of sportsmanship made her hesitate to slip away by breaking a promise. She wanted to capture Ball by her own efforts. If she slipped away he would leave the cave and make his escape, fearing she would lead the posse to it.

Dona walked slowly out into the sunshine. She sat down and thought a long time. Finally a smile curved her lips. She got up and returned to the cave. Shoving the pail containing the remaining water over the still hot coals, she prepared to wash the dishes.

She was busy drying them on a torn cloth when a step warned her that Ball was returning. She snatched about and her fingers went limp. The burly form of Swergin towered against the light from the opening. He held two guns ready.

"So!" he snarled between clenched teeth.

The Funniest Sayings of ABE MARTIN

As Selected By George Ade

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Upon the shoulders of a mild, soft-spoken southerner of 54—a familiar figure in practically every capital of the world—rests much of the responsibility for whether any real disarmament among nations will be effected in the near future.

He is Norman H. Davis, American delegate to the disarmament conference at Geneva and President Hoover's special representative to Europe.

It is Davis who at present is commuting between Geneva, London, Paris and Berlin laying the groundwork in informal conversations with European leaders upon which, it is hoped, will rest a substantial agreement later on.

Davis, a native of Tennessee and who still has many traits of the south about him, long has been an important figure in American diplomacy.

BUSINESS MAN—

Davis was a successful business man before he took up diplomacy. Starting his career in Cuba, by the time he was 28 years old he had organized the

PAST NATIONAL COMMANDER AM. LEGION SPEAKS

Howard Savage Gives Support To Hoover, Glenn, Small

The Illinois Republican Service Men's League, following its state convention and election at Springfield, entered the final laps of the state campaign by releasing a statement by its chairman, Colonel Howard P. Savage, who is both Past National Commander and Past State Commander of the American Legion, urging support of Herbert Hoover for President, Len Small for Governor, Otis F. Glenn for United States Senator, and the entire Republican ticket, mentioning by name also C. Wayland Brooks and Harry G. Wright, two war veterans and candidates respectively for state treasurer and auditor.

Concerning Mr. Small the famous war veteran said: "We have a duty in urging the election of Len Small for Governor. The service men of the state of Illinois can look with pride upon the sympathetic attitude of Ex-Governor Small in handling the program of the service men. Moments stand at Jacksonville, Elgin and Normal, showing the generous interest he had in behalf of the mentally ill and the disabled men who did not come under Federal control. We can look at the school at Normal where the orphans of the veterans who died in the war, or as a result, are given a genuine education and training that fits them for the years of life ahead. We can look to the law sponsored by Ex-Governor Small giving to the veterans of the war the bonus. There can be no question in any mind, especially that of the service men, concerning the attitude of Ex-Governor Small towards the service man and his problems when elected Governor."

"Speaking of Senator Glenn, he said: 'No one dare criticize the voting record of Senator Glenn. He has stood as a Republican, fighting against the ever-growing bureaucracy of government and extravagance of government, for balancing the budget, against five and ten law and voting for that which in general is in the best interest of our country and our people.'

Hoover Among Great

Savage declared that in his opinion "President Hoover ranks with the greatest of American Presidents. He said: 'It has been his policy to have thrown into his administration the greatest problems and difficulties which have confronted any President since the time of Lincoln. He has demonstrated his loyalty to his party, his people and his country, by working untiringly to solve the difficult problems coming in the wake of a world-wide depression. No one can stand at the door of the President and accuse him of anything but the greatest of statesmanship, for he has kept the country steady and his foundations unshaken. Yet with the mind sound."

"Democratic service men and some others have attempted to raise the cry of an unsympathetic attitude of the President toward the veterans of the war in his position on the soldiers' bonus, and yet, the Democratic convention in Chicago last June adopted a resolution opposing the payment of the bonus, and Mr. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee for President, has refused to issue any statement on the bonus, his only utterance has been: 'I stand 100 per cent for the Democratic platform.' His former associate, Alfred E. Smith, has indicated his opposition to the payment of the bonus and to the extravagant use of government money in connection with the service men."

Must Depend on Gov't.

"In the final analysis, as service men, knowing that the majority of our comrades favor the immediate payment of the bonus, we must depend upon the judgment of the leaders of our national government whether they be Republican or Democratic, to see that nothing is done which might wreck the very country under whose flag we stood in an emergency."

The new executive committee of the Illinois Republican Service Men's League include five past commanders of the American Legion, Milton J. Foreman, Ferre Watkins, David Shillinglaw, Howard B. Savage and Arthur (Jack) Poorman, and the following: George Sugruman, Chairman; Phil Collins; Hamlet C. Ridgway; Emmet Grady; George Meehan; Carlos Ames; John Garrity; A. V. Smith, State's Attorney of Lake County; Gale Reed; Thomas O'Meara; Edward C. Slothower; Oscar Carlstrom, Attorney General; William L. Wilson; Everett Dirksen; Ben Rhodes, Mayor of Bloomington; Paul Milliken; Charles Lee; A. M. Spaeth; Warren Wright; T. K. Rinaker; Harold Allison; Sam Bunker and Harry Tindall.

The Rest Room, located in the Court House basement is maintained for the benefit of the public and the card party is for the purpose of obtaining funds for the upkeep of the room. The Coliseum board have offered the building free of charge to the club for this party.

Rev. and Mrs. E. Wray O'Neal have recently moved to Oregon, from the Arkansas Ozarks to establish their home and are located in one of the apartments of the Frank D. Sheets residence. Rev. O'Neal has been in the pastorate of the Methodist church for a great many years being one of the outstanding ministers of the Rock River Conference, holding many large charges. He is now retired from active service.

Friends received word Tuesday of the death of Walter H. Marlarky, which occurred the evening previous at the home of his sister in Texas. Mr. Marlarky was born in Ogle county 53 years ago but for many years past was located in Chicago. He was a frequent visitor to this city and many friends were shocked to learn of his passing, which followed an illness of several weeks due to a diabetic condition. The remains were brought to Oregon for interment, last being held at the Presbyterian church Friday afternoon.

Winnebago County Council of Parent and Teacher Association have issued an invitation to the Ogle county council to meet with them the evening of Oct. 19, at Harlem Consolidated school. George McCarthy of the University of South Dakota will be the speaker.

Miss Anna Huey of Sumner, Ia. is a visitor with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Knapp.

Mrs. Charles Robbins of Elmhurst has been spending the week here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Jones.

Carl Beck of Elgin will locate in Oregon and open a watch repair shop in the near future.

J. D. Mead who served for several terms so efficiently as Circuit Clerk has been engaged as assistant cashier at the Oregon State Savings bank, assuming his duties October 19.

Mrs. C. F. Anderson was called to Chicago the early part of the week because of the serious condition of her sister following a golf ter operation at the Augustana hospital.

Mrs. Claude S. Jones was hostess to the Unity Club of St. Paul's Lutheran church at their regular business and social meeting Tuesday evening.

During the month of September nine death certificates and three birth certificates were filed at the office of City Clerk Frank T. Gantz for this district which comprises Oregon, Nashua, Rockvale and a part of Pine Creek townships. The births were Dixie Lee Weisel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reno F. Weisel; Leroy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Cox; Orville Cleveland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Good.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son and believeth on him may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day.—St. John 6:40.
